

SUFFERED THREE YEARS WITH CHRONIC CATARRH.

Mr. Disch, of Louisville, Gives Peruna the Credit for His Recovery, and Recommends it to His Friends.

MR. JOSEPH F. DISCH, 454 W. Jefferson St., Louisville, Ky., writes: "I take great pleasure in recommending your valuable Peruna as a catarrh remedy."

"I have been suffering for the past three years with catarrh, and had used almost everything in the market until I read of your wonderful Peruna remedy. After using two bottles of Peruna I can carefully recommend it to any one having the same disease."

"I was almost compelled to give up my business, until I used your remedy, and I have never been bothered with catarrh since."

Hon. C. Stimp, Congressman from Virginia, writes: "I can cheerfully say that I have used your valuable remedy, Peruna, with beneficial results, and can unhesitatingly recommend your remedy to my friends as an invigorating tonic and an effective and permanent cure for catarrh."

People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna Tablets. Sold by druggists, and manufactured by The Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio.

REMOVE THE SPECTACLES.

(Chicago News.)

"Should a man remove his spectacles on greeting his friends, as he would remove his hat before a woman?"

Conservative China answers, "certainly." Modern China—especially the student class—insists it is not at all necessary, especially if one really needs one's spectacles in order to see. Feeling is high on the subject, according to dispatches which have reached Paris," writes the Paris correspondent of the Daily News. "The meetings of the first constitutional assembly have only intensified the discussion. A curious incident started the trouble. From time immemorial, or at least, since the invention of artificial aids to sight, it has been the usage of the celestial empire to take off one's spectacles on meeting an acquaintance."

"In Europe and America hats are removed in the presence of women. In France you uncover on meeting either a man or woman acquaintance. In China you take off your spectacles. What's the difference? Thus argue many of the enlightened. But young nobles who have been educated abroad have learned to scorn native customs, in favor of European and American."

"A youthful mandarin, noted for his learning and brilliancy, was recently summoned before the Regent. He is extremely shortsighted. Therefore, he didn't take off his horn-rims as he was shown into the imperial presence. An attendant, noticing this, sprang forward tore them from his face, and gave him a smart slap on the cheek. Other students, hearing of the affair, rallied angrily to the support of their colleague, and the debate has since raged merrily."

Held A Very Interesting Meeting in That Village

Democracy, O., Nov. 17.—The November meeting of the Democracy W. C. T. U. was held at the M. E. parsonage.

The union is growing in interest and attendance, a very encouraging result of the recent membership contest.

The union was grateful for the visit of Mrs. W. L. McIntire, and Mrs. Thos. Weir of Mt. Vernon, both ladies assisting very much to make the hour interesting and profitable.

At the conclusion of the regular business session, Mrs. Weir gave a reading which was much appreciated.

A cordial invitation is extended to all, to attend the Silver Medal Contest, to be given at the M. E. church Thursday evening.

KEEP ON PLAYING.

(Outing.)

Play is just as necessary to keep a grown man young and a middle-aged man from growing old as it is to make a child grow into a man. Words worth's lines are sound physiology as good poetry?

"My heart leaps up when I behold
The rainbow in the sky;
So was it when my life began,
So be it when I am a man,
Or let me die."

In childhood we play because we are young; in middle life we are young because we play, and if we keep it up we shall never know that we are old until one day we are suddenly dead.

Yet the absurd idea has grown up, and Mrs. Grundy has adopted it with her usual fatuousness, that play is something undignified in a grown man and unbecoming in a lady. And this, unfortunately, is one of the rare instances where "thinking makes it so."

After a man has practiced this belief in the uselessness of exercise for half a decade or so, and becomes fat and pompous and red-faced, or pale and slack-muscled and short-minded, then the contortions that he indulges in when he decides to unbend and try to play furnish considerable more entertainment to spectators than to himself.

TEXAS CHESS TOURNAMENT

Play in the annual tournament began today and will continue over Friday and Saturday.

AN EQUINE JOKER.

Sculptor Ward's Model, Lex, Seemed to Have a Sense of Humor.

The late J. Q. A. Ward, the sculptor, found great diversion in watching the tricks and peculiarities of the horses which served as models for some of his equine statues. He made friends with them all, and he was a good friend to them.

"The only horse humorist that I have had experience with," Mr. Ward is quoted as saying, "was of thoroughbred blood, and he was a real joker. That was Lex, a horse of the blood of the immortal Lexington."

"Lex was of a splendid type. He stood for me for much of my early work. Somehow he discovered that a table on which I worked was easily shaken. It was a board on trestles so arranged that the position of the board might be altered to almost any angle. When Lex saw I was busied he would slide slowly and silently to the side of the table and turn his head to have a good look at me as he jostled the table with his shoulder or hip. It was amusing at first, but it sometimes hampered me, and I thought I would try a joke in return."

"Lex had a place at the table that he invariably approached, and when he struck it always leaped on the same corner. Lex was not conscious when I placed my compass, with the pointed ends out, barely half an inch extending over the edge of the table, and braced the other end against a weight."

"I had not long to wait before Lex gently came up, and I thought I could see mischief in his eye. He took his usual place, and then when I pretended to be very busy he pushed the table in his usual manner, pricked his shoulder on the points and jumped back with a snort. He looked long and hard at me but took his place of duty. The joke was against him that time."

Her sweet face fell;
Her brow was high,
And, with a yell,
He caught her eye.

OBITUARY

The Colopy Funeral

The funeral of the late Mrs. Theresa Colopy, whose death occurred Wednesday afternoon, will occur Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock from St. Vincent de Paul's Catholic church of which the deceased was a member. Interment in Calvary cemetery.

Mrs. Colopy was 66 years of age and was born in Ireland, coming to America when quite a little girl locating with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Doyle. After her marriage with Timothy Colopy she resided in Brandon until four years ago, after the death of Mr. Colopy, when she removed to Mt. Vernon. The deceased is survived by five children: W. J. Colopy of San Francisco, Cal., Miss Mame Colopy of Mt. Vernon, Miss Nellie Colopy of Mt. Vernon, John of Mt. Vernon and Mrs. Harry M. Baxter of Brandon.

Mrs. Abram Eley

Mrs. Abram Eley died at her home in Fredericktown on Thursday morning at about 10 o'clock after a several weeks' illness caused by a complication of diseases incident to old age. She was eighty years of age at the time of her death and is survived by her husband, one daughter and one son, Dr. W. T. Eley of that place. The funeral at the house Saturday morning, Rev. Hamby officiating. Interment at Bloomfield cemetery.

Philo Higgins

Philo Higgins died at 5 o'clock Thursday morning at his home in Miller township, Knox county, about three miles north of Homer. The cause of his death was cancer. The deceased was born January 10, 1834, and was therefore in his 66th year. He is survived by his wife, five children and two sisters. His wife was formerly Miss Elizabeth Hayes. The funeral Saturday afternoon at one o'clock from the Fairview church, Rev. Long officiating. Interment in the Fairview cemetery.

The Syrian patrol halted before the open window of the klan's captive, a girl from the hills.

"A message from my lord the klan," said he, saluting, and laid upon the edge of the lattice a spray of almond.

The girl ripped off the delicate blossoms and handed back the barren twigs.

"The answer," she said. — Youth's Companion.

French Powder Puff.

American women are usually content to carry a mouchoir and a fan in their theater bags, but the women of France often add, as a necessary to their well being, a powder puff and a small pouchoir filled with some favorite confectio.

As soon as a Frenchwoman is comfortably seated in a theater she takes out the powder puff, seeps perhaps in the center of a miniature handkerchief, and dusts it lightly over the face.

A Perspiration Cure.

If you suffer from perspiration try mixing an ounce of common baking powder and the same amount of un-scented talcum powder. Keep in air tight bottle and use freely after washing.

A little ammonia in the bathing water is excellent. Then dust with the powdered mixture.

Thanksgiving Sale of Linens

This is the store where quality linens are sold. The kind that has placed our linen department at the head of the procession.
